

THE ABSTINENCE ISSUE!

WUUnderground

FEBRUARY 18TH, 2019

VOL 15, ISSUE 6

PRICE: 1 LIL' KISS

BURIED WUNDERGROUND

Chancellor-Elect Martin Promises a Full 360 on Coal Investment

P. Eighteen

TKE Suspended For Not Hazing Hard Enough

P. 3.14159

WUnderground Named WashU's Top Unemployment Pre-Professional Society

page Paige

Yikes: This Cash Cab Contestant Lost While They Were Driving Through Yemen

P. 69 ;)

Three Times John Wilkes Booth Made a Cameo in Up or Maybe It Was Just More Balloons

P. 7

Medical Marvel: This Guy Hired a Stunt Double to Fight Cancer for Him

Ellen Page

Mr. Clean Uses Magic Eraser to Eliminate Final Traces of Former

"It gets grout too," Mr. Clean sighs, cleaning his partner's remains.

Mr. Clean sighed, stooping to reach the tiles of the Williams family kitchen. "It gets grout, too," he muttered, scrubbing vigorously between the tiles. Only minutes before, the famed product spokesman had finished disposing of the remains of his former partner, Scott Williams, following a dispute Wednesday evening.

Local authorities say the two men had reportedly engaged in an argument over the future of the Wham-O Marker, a dry-erase pen for granite remodeling, when things took a sinister turn. A coroner's report found a fistful of detergent thrown in the victim's eyes, whereupon Richard Clean repeatedly stabbed Mr. Williams with a prison shiv hewn from a mop handle. The advertisement celebrity used a single Magic Eraser to dispel of viscera from his colleague, needing only one sponge to purge the room of evidence. Authorities who responded to the crime were astounded by what they found. "If it weren't for home security footage, we would've sworn a false alarm," wrote Sergeant Richard Blumenthal. "The place was spotless."

Op-Ed: Love at First Heist: Falling in Love with My Carjacker

"It all started with that smile; that damn ski-masked smile."

February 2019

The recent crime wave affecting the WashU community has undoubtedly left an impact. Whether it's students living off-campus watching over their shoulders with renewed vigilance or WUPD officers working overtime to broadcast incident reports via email blasts, many of us have been affected in one way or another. However, for me, this string of robberies has had an unusual consequence: it's ensured I won't be alone this Valentine's Day.

It all began when a mysterious man stole my 1998 Honda Civic, and along with it, my heart. Our hands brushed when I handed over my keys; the ski mask brought out his piercing blue eyes. In that moment of passion, it barely even registered that there was a gun barrel in my face and that my life was very much in danger.

I could tell he felt the same way. His voice sounded tender and lustful as he instructed me in dulcet tones to "get the fuck out of the car". I was so charmed and flustered that I awkwardly stammered "call me!" as I got flirtatiously shoved out of the car. How embarrassing – he took my cell phone with him! How is he going to call me? Silly me.

I'm looking forward to our second date. I don't know when or where I'll see him again, but I'm giddy with excitement just thinking about it. Maybe he'll break into my apartment, or maybe he'll mug me when I'm waiting for the Green Line. It's so thrilling to have a man who keeps me guessing.

So if you're nervous about the threat of armed burglary or there's a lack of romantic prospects in your life, fear not – maybe, like me, you'll find love in a helpless place soon.

ICYMI: Donald Trump's State of the Union Address

Citizens across the country watched nervously as President Trump addressed the nation, hoping that there would be some clarification regarding the recent government shutdown that withheld pay from hundreds of thousands of government workers. For those of you who fell asleep halfway through the world's longest speech, here's a few of the evening's highlights:

1. Trump started off by claiming "I received word from my analysts just an hour ago that unemployment is at -2.5%! That's gotta be a record, folks. I keep true to my word".
2. President Trump brought out a guitar and started performing "Hero" by Enrique Iglesias halfway through the speech.
3. At one point, the president welcomed the new female representatives, noting the record number of women elected during the 2018 congress election. As "USA" chants began, he started joining in by yelling "USA" louder and louder into the microphone, ensuring that only his voice would be heard this evening.

"Anyway, here's Wonderwall." -President Trump

4. Trump voiced his frustration with the Wall funding, \ shouting "how hard is it to get a frickin wall with frickin laser beams on both frickin sides?" Mike Pence nodded. of seizures.
5. Trump ended his speech with "Thank you. God Bless America". Reporters tried getting a word in about the wall funding with President Trump after his address, but he promptly stuck his fingers in both of his ears and yelled "la la la la la I can't hear you!"
6. Later that night, Trump tweeted "It's ok that liberals don't feel welcome in our country".

Fatal Trolley Accident Shakes Things Up For Housing Lottery

"The suitemates were devastated by Chad's loss, but extremely grateful for a modern four."

CLAYTON, MO - A month after the tragic events on Delmar Boulevard left Washington University freshmen Austin Meinster and Chad Brunswick crushed underneath The Loop Trolley, their peers took time to reflect on their lives and the impact that their loss had on the community.

"I'll never forget Chad and Austin," said Charlie Dunn, who would have been suitemates with the deceased next year. "It was just such a jarring thing, losing them so suddenly, and so horrifically. The six of us were really tight, you know?"

"It was tough. It was real tough. But the university understood that. And for that I'm really grateful," said Kyle Smith, another future suitemate, when asked about the difficulty of adjusting after the shocking events. "They let the four of us change get a modern suite in Gregg. You know, since we went from six to four. So grieving has been just a little bit easier knowing that we'll have an elevator next year."

"Don't forget the tempur-pedic mattresses," added Tim Nelson, another friend of the deceased.

"I just can't get the image out of my head," said Dunn. "It's tough to think about anything else, really. It's touched every aspect of my life. It's been bringing me down academically. How am I supposed to focus on my studies when I keep seeing that fucking 8.5 by 11 foot well furnished dorm room with great natural lighting in my mind?"

"I was devastated after Chad and Austin died," said Michael Wheeler. "But things like this really make you take a look at life. God works in mysterious ways. And as cruel as fate can be sometimes, I think if you take the time to reflect, there's always some way it could have been worse. Just imagine if only one of them had died? What would we have done then?"

"Chad and Austin died for the boys," added Nelson. "Some people would have us simply ruminate on their deaths; I prefer to look at their legacy."

WUNDERGROUND

WUnderground is WashU's premier (only) satirical newspaper and should be taken about as seriously as the round-earthers.

The news reported by this paper is fictitious. Any resemblance to persons living, ailing or dead is entirely intentional.

OVERLORDS

Carter Paterboat
WUnderdad <3

Maddie Sea
Editor-in-Chief

Row-hit Kumar
Editor-in-Keef

SPECIAL OPS

Mikki JanRower
Supreme Layout Sorceress

Max LichtentacleStein
An Absolute Dreamboat ;)

Henry Iceburgh
Foreign Correspondent Alpha

Ike Boatler
Foreign Correspondent Beta

STAFF

JesSinKing
Captain Zoe Cooke
Adam Kaufmanatee
Rahul H2Oza
Max Wood Boat
Arjun Puri
Jack Gill-eeen
Alex Seavy
Jack Winkelman

UNPAID INTERNS

Kirsten HolOcean
Dana Seatrin'
Nicholas LaPort
Salmon Seal-ey
Lila Canoeziss
Hannah Hook Handerson
Davey Jon's Locker
Dan Riverboatheadass
Collin WETtach
Katie Laguna
Carlie Darefsea

¹Layout Wizard

If you would like to write, edit, fund our money-laundering scheme, etc. email us at wunderground@wustl.edu

6 71860 01362 4

ISSN # 1938-0089

wunderground.wustl.edu

Can We Guess Which Frat Cut You?

No bid? No sweat, WUnderground has got you covered. We can tell you exactly where and why you got cut this rush season.

OPINIONS

Point: Sorry guys, I'm gonna have to bail because I'm living in the Sig Nu house next year.

By: The Worst guy in your housing group

Used all of your tide pods.

Counterpoint: We cut him after the first closed event.....???

By: Marck Haddock, Sigma Nu Brother

(or sig nu, but NEVER SNU.)

Canada Geese Migration Cut Short To Keep Privileged Fucks Like You Warm

CLAYTON, MO - As the polar vortex struck the midwest, students struggled to find the perfect outerwear to combat the subzero temps. Just when all hope seemed lost, one species stepped in to save the day: the Canada goose.

"Yeah, I had to leave Karen and the kids early to go back north," said Billy, head flyer for the Feather Boyz, Toronto's premier flock. "My buddy promised me a job in St. Louis that would pay around $1k, and I have to provide for my family. We're living paycheck to paycheck. Wait - I'll see them again, right?"

While Canada geese typically migrate further south to places like Texas or northern Mexico from fall until summer, many hard-working geese were spotted heading back up north to accommodate wealthy WashU students, who otherwise would have frozen to death.

"Would I wear North Face? No. Do I look broke to you?" commented sophomore Sarah Miller, pushing back her hair to reveal her AirPods™. "Thank god for Canada Goose. And my dad's AmEx black card."

However, other students contend that their Canada Goose coats are less about the look and more about the experience.

"When I wear it, I just feel like I'm in Antarctica, and that's so dope," said Matthew Diesel, SAE pledge. "Like where are the penguins, am I right? Am I right?"

Unfortunately, the price for keeping these students warm and stylish for that single day when it was really cold was steep--for the geese. Hundreds of geese that were lured to St. Louis with the promise of work will never return to their families, leaving their feathered spouses and their little goose children to fend for themselves.

"Think of the day when geese make canada people jackets" -Melissa Stollman, junior, anthropology major and practicing vegan.

We hope it was worth it for you to stay warm for one fucking day, you privileged fucks.

A Letter From Our Editorial Staff

Dear StudLife,

You win.

We're not gonna lie, it's been a good run. If you'd told us fifteen years ago that Student Life, the real student newspaper, would deliberately confuse inclusive content with lack of editorial discretion, we would have laughed. That's our job! Really, we've published on just about everything: giving fetuses guns, Kevin Spacey for WILD; you remember that whole DK erotica bit? All for nothing, it seems, because we're calling it: you win, Studlife.

You finally managed to do the dirty to journalism, and waaaaay before us. There's something perverse about you guys managing to stumble into a goal we've been aspiring towards for over a decade, but here we are.

We're out of ideas, StudLife. While you're still churning out content at a dizzying pace, we blew through every joke we had in two days. Heck, we barely had enough interns alive to get this issue out on time! We're burnt out and it shows.

You really managed to outdo our quota on asinine bullshit, and it was effortless. So, we're packing up our typewriters, Nicolas Cage masks, and Free Wild tickets and heading home. We mean, three self-contradictory staff pieces, all in the same day? That turnaround is unmatched. We tried; one of our editors literally fell into a coma from rhetorical somersaults.

Anyways, we're sorry it's over; it's time to crown a new heir to the throne of shitposting. Here's to you, StudentLife: we hope you enjoy being the enemy of the people as much as we did.

Sincerishly,

The Wunderground Staff

TOP 10...

Top 10 Winter STDS

It's February and love is in the air, but that's not the only thing going around. Keep yourself protected against these ten ice-cold infections!

10. Snow Cancer
9. Frosty Blue Waffle
8. Brrr... AIDS
7. Ho Ho Herpes
6. Genital Wortex
5. Pubic Ice
4. Flurpies
3. Sniffylus
2. Chillmydia
1. Cold Sores

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

The carjackers are back! WDYT?

UBER DRIVER

(Definitely not behind this)

"Round two?"

JACK CARR

Unfortunately named student

"Please stop spitting at me."

THE ENTIRE STUDENT BODY

Impressively undiversified

"Maybe this will finally prompt the administration to implement long-term solutions to help us feel safe in our neighborhoods!!!"

WASHU ADMINISTRATION

Also impressively undiversified

"Did someone say..... WUPD officers on bikes???"

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Common egoist

"I don't get what the big deal is. Back in my day, we hijacked an entire motherfucking colony."